"THE HANDWASH THAT MAKES EVERYONE SMILE"

WHY SUSTAINABILITY?

In past years, water and its conservation – have become a key topic around the world and it will continue to be of high importance in the society. Global warming, increasing population and agricultural activities have more than doubled the global annual water consumption, from about 2.5 billion m^3 in 2020 to over 5 billion m^3 today. According to the UNESCO, over 22% of water is being used for domestic purposes. On an average a domestic faucet is being used 51 times per day for about 2 litres per use (primarily for washing hands).

Smixin is continuously working to encourage good habits for better hygiene practices; the less people sick, more the efficiency. Smixin not only saves water but also paper and soap. With Smixin, you're saving resources and also creating less pollution for our planet.

WHAT IS SMIXIN?

SMIXIN stands for Smart Mixing Inside

A Swiss innovation company committed to improving health and sustainability by developing efficient and economic hand washing solutions. We deliver a fully automatic hand washing process which, not only provides clean and soft hands but also a great user experience with minimum resources and massively reduced pollution.

The Swiss patented technology (SMU® and Smixrain®) installed into our solutions are the heart of our systems, make them highly unique. We bring handwash closer to people (handwashing anywhere and everywhere).

As illustrated in the figure on the left, the correct approach towards creating a stronger brand is is not just generating profit but also keeping people and planet at the heart of company's operations.
At Smixin, we hit the exact spot.
